CITY OF CARSON POSITION STATEMENT

Carson is a vibrant city with a small town atmosphere where relationships are important. This is clearly visible throughout the community, from the stable single family neighborhoods, which make up nearly eighty percent of the city's residences, to the partnership between businesses and volunteer driven agencies which strengthen the city's remarkable social fabric.

The social composition of Carson is California in miniature. It is a city with a balanced ethnic and cultural mix living together in harmony and prosperity.

The community takes pride in the large percentage of Carson students who attend college, many to California State University, Dominguez Hills, a valuable asset to the city.

Carson's strategic position in the heart of the powerful economic engine that is Southern California attracts international corporations which recognize the city's bright future. The city's proximity to the West Coast's two major ports, as well as its intersection by four Southland freeways, makes it a major gateway to the Pacific Rim.

We, the people who live and work in Carson, take pride in our city and will continue to build relationships which ensure that future.

Special Olympics WORLD GAMES LOS ANGELES 2015

The City of Carson will host Special Olympics Delegations that include athletes and coaches from the countries of Dominica, Palestine, and Turkmenistan as part of the Special Olympics World Games Host Town program.

Before the World Games begin on July 25, 2015, more than 7,000 athletes from 177 countries will be welcomed to communities throughout Southern California. The Delegations will spend July 21-24, 2015 in and around Carson as they become acclimated to the time zone, enjoy activities that the City of Carson has to offer and prepare to compete at the World Games

Carson to Host Special Olympics Delegations from Dominica, Palestine, Turkmenistan

Special Olympics athletes and coaches will visit Carson to enjoy and learn about our town's culture before competing in the 2015 World Games

The Host Town Program in Carson is a collaboration between the City and California State University, Dominguez Hills. Together, they will welcome the Special Olympics athletes and coaches and provide them food, housing and entertainment.

"The Host Town program gives each community an opportunity to showcase to the world what makes them special, but more importantly, to provide citizens with a better understanding of intellectual disabilities that will lead to acceptance and inclusion for all," said Patrick McClenahan, President and CEO of LA2015.

"Long after the World Games are over, the memories of those three days spent at the Host Town will leave a lasting legacy for Special Olympics Southern California and everyone who was touched by our athletes. We are thankful to all participating Host Towns and their tireless volunteers for opening their doors – and their hearts – to our athletes and coaches," added McClenahan.

"We are privileged Carson is one of the host communities for the 2015 Special Olympics World Games Los Angeles. This is an international event, with athletes, coaches, volunteers and other guests coming from all over the world, and we are happy to provide a memorable experience and showcase our diverse community," said Carson's Mayor Albert Robles.

Carson's official Welcome Dinner for the athletes will be held on Wednesday, July 22, 2015 at 5:00 p.m. at the Congresswoman Juanita Millender-McDonald Community Center.

Other activities planned for the athletes include bowling, watching movies under the stars, a picnic barbeque, and tours of local attractions of surrounding cities.

The Opening Ceremony of the World Games will be held at the historic Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum on July 25 and televised to a worldwide audience by ESPN.

To learn more about how you can get involved with the Carson Host Town program, please call the City of Carson Human Services Division at (310) 835-0212 ext. 1467 or 1780.

The Host Town program has been an important element of Special Olympics World Games since 1995, and the experience has left a lasting impression on the local communities in Ireland, Japan, China, Greece, South Korea and the United States, all of which have previously organized Host Town programs as part of the Special Olympics World Games.

Carson Park Cheerleaders Claim 2015

SHARP State Junior Champion Title

When you walk inside of the Carson Park building, along its counter are lines of trophies that Carson Park Cheerleaders have brought home over the past years, but there is one trophy that really stands out. It's the 2015 SHARP State Junior Championship trophy that the Carson Park Mini Stars and Carson Park All Stars brought home from their competition held at Knott's Berry Farm this past March.

But more than the trophies that each team has taken home are the friendship that both the girls in the team and the parents have developed. Practicing an hour Monday and Wednesday twice per week, the girls have learned what it means to work as a team.

Parent Sandra Arroyo whose daughter has been participating in Carson Park Cheer for the second year says that it has felt like a family and this is very rewarding for her and her daughter Yesenia.

All Star Cheerleader Analissa Cardenas has participated in the Cheer program for the past three years and her younger sister Ariannah joined the Mini Stars this year.

"My girls love it. They [cheerleaders] become like family and get really attached to each other. The girls have done amazing this year and I'm beyond proud of them as a group for their team effort," said parent Crystal Cardenas.

But the girls are not the only ones that have grown closer during practices; parents say that they too, from volunteering have felt more connected.

"The parent volunteer and participation keeps improving tremendously and I'm honored to be a part of the team," added Cardenas.

For Kim Cortado, a 15-year volunteer and Parks and Recreation Commissioner, she started out helping as a cheer mom. She also coached and became an active member of the Carson Park Association.

"The Association is very proud of the Carson Park cheerleaders. We look forward to all that they will accomplish in the future as well as all of our park programs which includes the song team, tap, hip-hop, ballet, t-ball, baseball, softball, basketball, football, and soccer," said Cortado.

Senior Recreation Supervisor, Bobby Grove, expressed similar sentiments. "These girls have worked hard over the years and were able to win the Sharp State title this year. Coach Michele and Coach Ariana have done a phenomenal job and the girls' skill level increases every year."

Coach Michele Ledesma has been coaching Carson Park Cheer for 7 years. She started in 2008 with 1 team of 8 girls, and now, Carson Park has two teams, the Mini Stars and All Stars.

City of Carson Hosts Autism Awareness Day

For the second year, the City of Carson has hosted an awareness-raising event on April 11 at Veterans Park in honor of autism awareness with various information booths, carnival games, a rapper, a balloon artist, various sports and activities, safety fingerprinting, jumpers, and a magician.

For partnering agency, Autism Advocates in Action, April 11 is an important day to help educate, advocate and bring awareness to a community which expands far beyond a spectrum that is now 1 in 68.

"As the Founder of Autism Advocates in Action (AAIA) and someone who has a son on the spectrum, I advocate providing support, educating and bringing awareness to Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD). I believe the more you know the more you grow and this can be done in a positive environment through information which is key," said Renita Verner.

"We must advocate and be the voice for those who cannot speak and educate and promote inclusion for those who do not understand. We must work to improve a system which scrambles to find a way to keep up with what is an epidemic of now 1 in 68. We must stay motivated, engaged and continue a journey by using our love and compassion for all who are affected," added Verner.

For AAIA committee member, Cynthia Allen, who has a 17-year old son on the spectrum, she says her participation is an extension of the inherent advocacy that she performs every day for her son born purely from maternal instincts.

"I believe with the core of my very existence that my son and others affected with autism are destined for greatness albeit not measured by standard metrics like grades and accolades but in character strength and fortitude," said Allen.

"I participate because if there is but one parent/caregiver that has lost hope there is one too many. My goal in participating is to help highlight the possibilities and to fashion a new model of community that accepts and encourages all abilities not tolerate and discourage those with disabilities," avidly added Allen. Autism Advocates in Action is a 501c3 non-profit organization whose mission is provide community support in the areas of advocacy, resources, and activities for children, teens and adults while promoting awareness and inclusion. The organization provides monthly meetings to help educate parents on current law and collaborate with the community engagement resource to help parents navigate the system.

...and Special Olympics Area Games

FACT: Autism was once thought to be a relatively rare disorder, affecting one in 10,000 people. Today, Center for Disease Control and Prevention reports that an average of 1 in 68 children in the United States have been identified to be on the autism spectrum disorder.

The City of Carson Special Needs Program addresses the social, physical and recreational needs of Carson's mentally and physically disabled adult population. The program has an emphasis on socialization, creative activities, special recreation, and physical and educational development of the mentally and physically challenged. These services help to reduce the loneliness and isolation of individuals with disabilities by providing a variety of recreational and social activities. This ultimately enhances the awareness of individual and group advocacy for the rights of individuals with disabilities.

On the same day, Carson also hosted for the third year the Special Olympics Area Games in the sports of bocce and basketball. Over 300 athletes participated in the games.

According to Special Needs Coordinator Sandy Barber, she is thrilled with the success of both events [Special Olympics Area Games and Autism Awareness Day].

"I am proud to see the growth in participation of both the athletes and spectators to the area games," said Barber.

"I think it serves a twofold purpose to have sports competition for our special athletes as well as spread awareness about autism. We accomplish a lot with having both events on the same day that can provide hope, resource, and fun for everyone in the family," added Barber.

On June 12-14, 2015, the Special Olympics Summer Games will be held at CalState Long Beach and on July 25, 2015, the Special Olympics World Games will kick-off in Los Angeles.

Carson is a 2015 All-America City Award Finalist

The City of Carson has been named as a finalist for the 2015 All-America City Award. This prestigious award honors communities across the country that has developed innovative solutions to pressing problems.

Given by the National Civic League to 10 communities each year, the award celebrates and recognizes neighborhoods, villages, towns, cities, counties, tribes and metro regions that have engaged residents in innovative, inclusive and effective efforts to tackle critical challenges.

The focus of this year's All-America City Award is on community efforts to engage and support vulnerable young men and boys, aligning with efforts such as The White House's My Brother's Keeper Initiative.

"At a time when the challenges facing our communities can seem overwhelming, places like the Carson community are a critical reminder of the good work being done all across the country," said Gloria Rubio-Cortes, President of the National Civic League.

"It's an example of what's possible when local government, business, nonprofits and residents come together to solve problems. That's why I am proud to announce that Carson has been selected as a finalist for the 2015 All-America City Award," added Rubio-Cortes.

A team representing Carson will join residents; nonprofit, business, and government leaders; and young people from the 15 other finalist communities in Denver from June 12-14 this year.

The event gives finalist communities the chance to connect and share insights with other innovative communities and a chance to learn from national leaders in the field of civic engagement and innovation. Each community will then present the story of their work to a jury of nationally recognized civic leaders. The event is every bit as much about learning and networking as it is about competing for the coveted All-America City title.

In explaining the purpose of the award, Rubio-Cortes offered: "NCL isn't looking for the most prestigious, prosperous or 'perfect' communities – that's not what it takes to win the All-America City Award. The award celebrates

Captain's Corner

by Captain Chris Marks

Our detectives participated in two community meetings hosted by the mobile home estates to share information and seek the residents' assistance. Following the meetings, a very observant resident witnessed a suspicious person near a neighbor's residence who was away at work. Our observant resident called Carson Station and the responding deputies apprehended the suspicious person as he was fleeing the area. The apprehending deputies determined the suspicious person that had just burglarized the residence. Our detectives, who responded to the scene of the arrest began working additional leads and identified our suspect's residence. Within a few hours of the arrest, a search warrant for the suspect's residence was authorized by a judge and the detectives located additional stolen property from previous burglaries. We believe this person is likely responsible for more than 20 other burglaries. We owe the success of this case to our observant resident. Please keep this story in mind when you see something that seems suspicious and always call us. We are here to help you and keep your community safe. We cannot accomplish this without you and your help.

Community Academy

Community Academies are a series of nine weekly classes aimed at providing an opportunity to gain insight into the Sheriff's Department and provide additional skills to help keep the City of Carson safe. There are currently 19 residents attending Community Academy. Topics include narcotics, gangs, traffic enforcement, and field trips to a jail and communications center. After graduation of the first class, a second Community Academy beginning in the summer will be announced. If you are interested in attending, please call Sergeant Carlos Veramendi in Community Relations.

Safety First Act Now (SFAN)

On Wednesday, April 1, the Sheriff's Station held a community survey results meeting with the residents of the Dominguez Village community. This meeting was very successful due to the amount of residents who took the time to participate. We are appreciative of the citizen's involvement and we thank everyone for their participation. The Sheriff's noted several concerns from the residents and we are beginning our plans to address them. The SFAN meeting was also attended by several elected officials from the City and the Assembly.

Neighborhood Watch Works!

During the months of January and February, there was an increase in residential burglaries occurring in several of mobile home estates. The station detectives and community policing teams dedicated their efforts to identify and apprehend the person responsible for the break-ins.

"Don't Be a Victim" Operations

The Carson Station Explorers, volunteers, and community policing teams have been performing "Don't be a Victim" operations in our local shopping centers. Our personnel have been spending about an hour every other week walking through local shopping centers looking for vehicles that have been left unlocked, or that have valuable items left in plain view. When a vehicle is located that fits the criteria, we then leave a courtesy notice reminding the owner of the vehicle that he or she can help prevent crime by securing their vehicle and concealing valuable items.

General Customer Service Brief

As your station captain, I am always looking for ways to improve our service, and our commitment to timely responses to calls for service is the cornerstone of quality service. I would like to explain how we classify and prioritize calls for service, and what we are doing to ensure timely responses. First, when you call the Sheriff's Department and report an incident, the dispatch personnel evaluate the incident while inputting the information into a computer dispatch system. The Sheriff's Department classifies calls for service into one of three categories:

1) Emergency
(Lights and Sirens)

2) Priority
(Immediate response, but do not call for lights and sirens)

3) Routine
(Does not require an immediate response).

We also place thresholds on the amount of time it takes to arrive at a call. In an effort to ensure our response times are kept as low as possible, I have implemented station policy for supervisors to evaluate any call for service that exceeds our allowable threshold time, based on the category of the call. The goal of the Carson Station personnel is to deliver quality and timely service to the residents of Carson. If you need to call our station, please use the numbers above as a reference. ■ birds, and wildlife. In milder cases, patients experience fevers, body aches, and headaches. In more severe cases, patients can experience coma and paralysis.

"People may think mosquitoes are just simple annoyances," says Carson's Mayor Albert Robles. "But in Carson and the surrounding communities, mosquitoes pose a very serious health threat."

Luckily, the City of Carson has been working with the Greater Los Angeles Vector Control District (GLACVCD) to make sure residents understand the risks. GLACVCD has specialized staff that monitor diseases and control mosquitoes and other vectors that pose a threat to our health and comfort.

"We can do our part, but we need Carson residents' help to get rid of stagnant water around the home," says Levy Sun, Public Information Officer for GLACVCD.

"Take a few minutes to clean up clutter around your home and remove all buckets, old tires, and plant saucers that hold water. The work you do now will dramatically cut your risk of mosquito problems this summer," added Sun.

While GLACVCD and the City of Carson are fighting mosquitoes in parks, street gutters and public areas, we need your

“As a coach, my goal is to teach, motivate, and inspire my cheerleaders to achieve the impossible. They have gone beyond my expectations and achieved the impossible by winning the State Champions at Knott’s Berry Farm this season,” said Ledesma.

Carson Park Cheer also competed on the National Level in Las Vegas. The Mini Stars claimed first place and the All Stars placed second.

Ledesma also commented on her assistant coach’s performance in leading the team for the past two years. “Ariana Maciel has been an instrumental part of our cheer program at Carson Park.”

Ariana Maciel was also a part of the Carson Park Cheer when she was 8 years old. Now, out of her passion for cheer, she is an assistant coach for the team. Her 11-year old sister Gizela has been part of the Carson Park Cheer Team for since she was 7 years old.

“I am so proud of Gizela,” said mom Gloria Maciel. “She sees the girls on the team as her cheer sisters. I love to see that she is so committed and dedicated to something that is so healthy for her both mentally and physically,” she added.

Gloria Maciel also expressed how proud she is of Assistant Coach Ariana.

“She is a leader and is a positive influence on the girls. It makes my heart feel so happy when I hear Ariana tell the girls how well they did at a competition and how proud she is of them or when she tells me how proud she is to see the girls come so far from day one of practice and how she sees the girls so confident when they are performing,” said Maciel.

Carson Park Cheer is an annual program. The program is for girls between 3-12 years of age. If you are interested in joining the largest cheer program in Carson, please contact Carson Park at (310) 830-4925. Sign-up for the new season is between July 1-31, 2015. ■ communities of any size, geography, affluence, or influence where residents and leaders roll-up their sleeves, and find creative solutions to challenging problems.”

The three community-driven projects presented by the City of Carson are as follows: 1) The Gang Diversion Team. The Gang Diversion Team is working together with community leadership to create effective ways of directing negative youth behavior into positive lifestyle; 2) The Male Success Alliance (MSA). The purpose of MSA is to improve access, retention, and graduation rates of young men of color through academic support, professional development, and mentoring; 3) The Joseph B. Jr. and Mary Anne O’Neal Stroke Center was formed to fill a gap in the Carson community. It began as a stroke support group in 1999 and then expanded by following the model provided by the Palm Springs Center. There are only two stroke centers in California that offer rehabilitative services, and the Joseph B. Jr. and Mary Anne O’Neal Stroke Center is the only one that offers them for free. The center is available to anyone for free, not just Carson residents.

“What is vision? Vision is the ability to see beyond the limits of your past and present, and visualize the unlimited potential of an ‘Unlimited Future.’ Having grown-up in Carson, I have seen our City and its residents create innovation in areas where it was unimaginable. For example, the Carson Stroke Center, the brainchild of one of our residents, offers Carson and non-Carson residents free speech therapy, occupational therapy and a variety of other programs to assist individuals with stroke rehabilitation. The City of Carson is an All-America City because we engage and support our community members’ visions,” said Carson’s Mayor Albert Robles.

help to control them around your home. Here are some ways you can help:

- GLACVCD offers a free service to inspect areas and properties with mosquito issues. Are you getting bit during the day or night? Call 562-944-9656 or submit a service request online at www.reportmosquitoes.org.

- Do you notice dirty, green pools or other potential mosquito breeding sources in your community? Let us know! GLACVCD does free inspections and can help many people solve mosquito issues. Call us at 562-944-9656 or online at www.reportmosquitoes.org.

- If families are outdoors when mosquitoes are active, apply insect repellent. Just because you don’t see them, doesn’t mean mosquitoes won’t find you! The most effective repellents contain active ingredients such as DEET, Picaridin, IR3535 or Oil of lemon eucalyptus (PMD). Always apply according to label instructions.

- Make sure doors and windows have tight-fitting screens to keep mosquitoes out. Repair or replace screens that have tears or holes.

- Vector control needs your help to educate the community! Invite a special Vector Control booth or speaker to your next event at a church, fair or organization. Call them at 562-944-9656 or email commaffairs@glacvcd.org. ■
