A MESSAGE FROM THE CITY TREASURER

and handled by a third party vendor. You do not have to give your name and your call is not recorded through the use of recording devices, caller identification equipment or any other means.

The City of Carson has taken a pro-active step against fraud by establishing the aware of unethical, illegal or irresponsible activity, don't ignore it. Call the Fraud Hotline toll-free telephone number at

CITY OF CARSON POSITION STATEMENT

Carson is a vibrant city with a small town atmosphere where relationships are important. This is clearly visible throughout the community, from the stable single family neighborhoods, which make up nearly eighty percent of the city's residences, to the partnership between businesses and volunteer driven agencies which strengthen the city's remarkable social fabric.

The social composition of Carson is California in miniature. It is a city with a balanced ethnic and cultural mix living together in harmony and prosperity.

The community takes pride in the large percentage of Carson students who attend college, many to California State University, Dominguez Hills, a valuable asset to the city.

Carson's strategic position in the heart of the powerful economic engine that is Southern California attracts international corporations which recognize the city's bright future. The city's proximity to the West Coast's two major ports, as well as its intersection by four Southland freeways, makes it a major gateway to the Pacific Rim.

We, the people who live and work in Carson, take pride in our city and will continue to build relationships which ensure that future.

Songco sisters win the 2015 Miss Carson and Miss Teen Carson Scholarship Pageant of Excellence

"I believe a physician who implements health policy can create a positive influence in their community," says Stacy. After graduation, Stacy plans to pursue a Master's degree in Business Administration or a Master's degree in Public Policy. She wants to pursue studying medicine in term of a population management style approach and hopes to help improve healthcare delivery.

"My older sister (Stacy) is my biggest influence and inspiration. She played a huge role in shaping my high-spirited, outgoing, and loquacious personality," says Avey.

What's good news if you haven't got a sister to share it with? For Stacy and Avey Songco, winning the 2015 Miss Carson and Miss Teen Carson Pageant of Excellence is a major accomplishment that they will share together for the rest of their lives.

Born into a working class family here in Carson, Stacy is a graduate student attending UCLA School of Medicine. She has co-authored a policy on Medicaid Expansion to advocate for healthcare access for marginalized populations.

and improve the quality of health care for patients of multicultural backgrounds.

"My commitment to communities like my own is linked to my personal background. Carson is a medically underserved community. Language barriers, overcrowding at Harbor-UCLA Hospital and lack of affordable healthcare benefits discourage many immigrants from visiting a physician," says Stacy.

During her spare time, Stacy loves playing musical instruments and formed a band with three of her classmates in graduate school several months ago. Stacy also runs and weightlifts to stay fit. She enjoys watching musicals and meditates to relieve pressure from her schoolwork.

And just like her sister, Miss Teen Carson 2015 winner, Avey Songco, also loves to play musical instruments during her pass time. She like to make beats and play the keyboard.

Avey currently attends California Academy of Mathematics and Science (CAMS). Her interest in engineering and mechanics was motivated by her father who she says schooled her about different tools and utility while he repaired appliances.

Pursuing her interest in math and science, Avey Songco attended several camps and has even begun some college courses. Even though Avey has been identified with a moderate scoliosis, she still remains physically active by participating in school sports.

Undiscovered Attraction: Bixby Marshland/Birdwalk Right in Carson's Backyard

Did you know that Carson has its very own 17-acre marshland that you can visit every first Saturday of each month from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and also by appointment?

If your answer is what is a marshland anyway and what can I see there? Here are some facts....

What is a marshland?

A marsh is a tract of soft, wet land usually containing grass or rushes. The Sanitation District's Marshland consists of various habitats that receive water from the Wilmington Drain. Wetlands are unique because of their role as an

"ecotone," or transition area, between terrestrial (land) and aquatic (water) environments.

Bixby Marshland Background:

The Sanitation Districts have restored and enhanced this marshland for the benefit of its neighbors. The history of the marshland goes back many, many years when much was of the land in this area was a low-lying fresh water marsh.

Over the years, much of the marsh was destroyed due to developments. The Sanitation Districts and the Los Angeles County Department of Public Works rescued this area from the developments in the 1970s.

Over time, non-native plants thrived at the site and native plant health declined. The marshland has now been rejuvenated and a large variety of native plants have been planted to restore the marshland's health and increase its value to wildlife.

Why Are Wetlands Important?

Wetland habitats are home to 43% of federally listed endangered and threatened species. They provide habitat for birds, animals, amphibians, invertebrates, fish, and a diverse group of plants.

Aside from providing habitat, wetlands are sometimes called "the kidneys of the landscape" because they receive water that rushes off the land during storms. In the wetland, water is cleansed of sediments and pollutants before it slowly enters the ocean or underground aquifers.

What to See at the Bixby Marshland Today:

There are currently 110 various species of plants at the marshland, of which 73 are native. Some of those familiar plants include willow, sycamore, and cottonwood trees; rushes, sedges, mulefate, sage, coyote brush, Artemisia, and desert grape.

There are also a total of 69 bird species at the marshland. Some of the bird species include ducks, herons, egrets, coots, red-winged blackbirds, swallows, sparrows, finches, hawks, kestrel, hummingbirds, black phoebes, common yellowthroats. Fishes, mammals, amphibians, and reptiles can also be found at the marshland.

The Bixby Marshland is located on the Southwest corner of Figueroa Street and Sepulveda Blvd. in Carson. The tour of the marshland is open to the public and admission is free. For more information, please call (562)908-4288 ext. 2301 or visit www.lacsd.org. ■

Captain's Corner

by Captain Chris Marks

The Holidays are quickly approaching, and so are opportunist thieves. If you are purchasing merchandise on-line, keep in mind that opportunist thieves drive throughout our community looking for unattended packages sitting at front doors. A few simple steps can save the loss of your purchase.

- 1) Track the delivery of your package through the tracking service offered by the delivery company.
- 2) Try to be home during the delivery; if you won't be home, make plans to prevent the package from sitting in the open.
- 3) Ask a family member, friend, or neighbor to pick it up for you.

If you are at a shopping center and must leave items unattended in your car, place your items completely out of view. Always remember to lock your car and do not leave electronic devices visible. This may sound simple. Our volunteer explorers canvass shopping centers and find many cars unlocked or with visible electronic devices. We will be sending out more reminders and crime prevention tips in the coming weeks through Nixle, Facebook, and Twitter, as well as performing our "Don't Become a Victim Operations." Please follow us for more information.

Suspicious Activity. Nobody knows your neighborhood better than you. If you see something suspicious, call us. That's our job, and that's the way we prevent crimes and apprehend criminals. Some common crimes that are occurring throughout the South Bay are thefts of catalytic converters. Catalytic converters are attached to your vehicle's exhaust system. They are stolen and sold to scrap yards for their precious metal value. Thieves typically look for vehicles that sit higher from the ground such as SUV's and trucks because they can easily slide underneath the vehicle. With just a battery powered saw, the catalytic converter can be stolen in less than a minute. You can help prevent these thefts by parking your vehicle in a well-lit area, installing an alarm that activates on motion, and keeping an eye out. If you hear a noise late at night that sounds like cutting, chances are it could be a catalytic converter theft in progress.

With the prediction of a wet winter coming, this is a good time to ask yourself if you are prepared for a disaster. Are you prepared to go without services like electricity and water for a week? If such an event were to occur, emergency supplies will immediately be consumed. You should always be prepared to sustain your household for several days. As a simple step toward preparation, please consider adding additional food and water to your shelves the next time you are shopping. There is a simple method known as "copy canning" that is an easy way to build your food storage without costing you much more than you already spend. Consider this, the next time you make a shopping list and decide to buy a canned food you already eat, let's say chicken noodle soup and tuna. Instead of buying one can of soup and one can of tuna, buy two. And after you use the one can, when you return to the store, instead of buying just one can to preplace the soup or tuna, buy two. Pretty soon you will have enough stored food, which you will eventually use anyway, to last through an emergency. This is an effective way to build food storage for an emergency. What about water? Do you drink soda? The next time you finish using a liter bottle of soda, thoroughly clean and rinse the bottle, then fill it with water and store in a cool dry place. Collect enough bottles to sustain your residence for at least a week. There are many simple ways to prepare your household. Search the internet or start by going to the Los Angeles County Office of Emergency Management's Guide at <http://lacoa.org/pdf/emergencysurvivalguide-lowres.pdf> or <http://www.ready.gov/water>.

Lastly, we want to thank all of the community volunteers -- MB Nursery, Carson Sheriff Station Support Foundation, and the City of Carson for assisting us in replacing the grass from the front of our station with a drought tolerant landscape. Our water bill has been reduced by 70%! This would not have been possible without the help of our community volunteer program and the leadership of Mr. Sai Momoli. ■

City of Carson Celebrates Filipino-American History Month October 3 and October 24 with a Special Tribute to Union Leader Larry Itliong

Showcase of amazing talents and performing artists in music, creative arts, and varied forms of entertainment from the Filipino-American community kicked off the month-long October celebration on October 3 at the Congresswoman Juanita Millender-McDonald Community Center. The program line-up on October 3 included performances from Manny Evaldez, Malaya Dance Group, and Christine Love. Co-author of the book, Filipinos in Carson and the South Bay, Roselyn Estepa Ibañez, was also there to highlight the significance of Filipino-American History.

On October 24, the City of Carson and various organizations joined the entire community in honoring the life's work and legacy of Larry Itliong – a Filipino-American labor leader and organizer. A tribute march started at 10 a.m. on October 24 around the vicinity of Congresswoman Juanita Millender-McDonald Community Center.

A program featuring awards for labor and community leadership, youth achievement, and medals of honor for advocacy work on behalf of Filipino American World War II veterans also took place on October 24.

The awardees were Gerry Villero (labor), David Campbell (labor), Franco Arcebal (leadership), Kobe Paras (youth achievement), Michael Christian Martinez (youth achievement), renowned publicist Fritz Friedman (medal of honor) and screenwriter/producer/television director and former actor Dean Devlin (medal of honor).

Larry Itliong was responsible for organizing immigrant farm workers and cannery workers for over 30 years. He helped establish the Alaska Cannery Workers Union in the 1930s and helped get a contract that called for eight-hour days with overtime pay.

The State of the City is good, but at the Mayor's State of the City Address he vowed that 2016 would be "fantastic."

The State of the City Address is an opportunity to sum up the past year's achievements and accomplishments, and share a glimpse into next year's agenda," said Carson's Mayor. "I, however, want to do something a little different today. I want to begin by asking you to imagine that I'm at next year's progress report and I believe that I will declare that the state of this city is, in a word, "fantastic."

"This City Council is unwavering in our partnership with the business community and our residents," Mayor said. "It is my hope the business community will step up and help the city at this time of need. Carson is my past. Carson is my present. Carson will be my future," he added.

"I feel lucky and fortunate to have the unwavering support of the City Council and employees. I want everyone to know that the City Council is 100 percent committed to putting the best interest of our residents and the business community above all else." ■

The Porsche Experience Center Los Angeles, a 52-acre luxury vehicle test-driving facility, will open in 2016, said Carson's Mayor. City officials also expect to find out early next year whether the National Football League owners will approve a stadium for the Chargers and Raiders to be located here in Carson.

Development is booming. Hundreds of new housing units are in the works. The first movie theater in decades opened recently at the SouthBay Pavilion, reconstruction of downtown infrastructure has begun, and the City is moving forward to bring a major development to a 157-acre vacant lot in our community.

Residential Property Report Program: Improving Carson Neighborhoods for 16 years

All property owners who sell a residential property including single-family dwellings, condominiums and apartments within the City of Carson are required to obtain an approved Residential Property Report from the Building and Safety Division before the close of escrow. The residential property report inspections are aimed to improve the safety of homes that are sold. The program corrects major safety violations such as illegal conversion of garages to living space and unpermitted room additions. The program also insures every house sold in Carson has proper electrical outlets in garages, water heater strapping, and smoke and carbon monoxide detectors.

Since 1999, the City of Carson has issued over 10,000 Residential Property Reports. This process has resulted in thousands of safer homes that meet current City codes. In addition, the program could be one of the reasons responsible for increased property values in Carson for the past few years.

The City of Carson advises all homeowners to obtain permits for all work done on their properties. If you are not sure a permit is needed for your improvement, please call the Building and Safety Division. We will be happy to help you. In addition, if you are considering selling your home, it is best to apply for the Residential Property Report as early as possible. Planning ahead allows plenty of time to perform the necessary corrections and reduces the stress and unnecessarily delays in the transaction process. You can apply for the Residential Property Report by completing the application which can be obtained at City Hall, Building and Safety Division, located at 701 E. Carson Street or from the City's website: http://ci.carson.ca.us//department/communitydevelopment/res_property_report_ord.asp.

The residential property report application fee is $150.00 for one or two units and an additional $25.00 for each unit over two.

The following are the general steps to obtaining an approved report:

- ☐ Obtain, complete and submit a Residential Property Report application, site plan and pay the related fee to the Building and Safety Division.
- ☐ Schedule and obtain a Residential Property Report (RPR) inspection with Building and Safety Division.
- ☐ If violations are observed by the inspector, it is the seller's responsibility to correct all noted violations and schedule a follow-up inspection after completing the corrections.
- ☐ If no violations are noted by the inspector, an approved Residential Property Report is issued and is available for pick-up within ten business days from the Building and Safety Division.
- ☐ Provide the buyer a copy of the approved report prior to transfer of title (close of escrow) and submit the signed Buyer's Acknowledgment Form to the Building and Safety Division.

City staff is a phone call away to help you at any step in this process. Please contact the Building and Safety Division at 310-952-1766 or the Planning Division at 310-952-1761. In addition, your realtor is also a good resource. ■ because my back began to hurt from the repetitive landing on my heels. I really wanted to continue this event, so I put in hard work at practice until my back had finally adjusted. A quote that powers me through many of my hardest and hopeless moments is a quote from Eric Thomas that, "If you want to succeed as bad as you want to breathe, then you will be successful," says Avey.

Avey aspires to attend Stanford University after high school because it is one of the top engineering and business schools in the United States. While growing up, Avey also participated in many fundraising events to raise money for her church where she says she got to practice her skills in marketing.

When asked what she plans to do with her scholarship win of $2,000, Avey says that she plans to use it to ease the financial burden of her college tuition. "This will give me a head start on my future and take me one step closer towards my goal," says Avey.

The crowned 2015 Miss Carson and Miss Teen Carson each received a $2,000 scholarship fund, in addition to many other prizes. Both will represent the City in various city events until 2016 when a newly crowned Miss Carson and Miss Teen Carson succeeds them. ■

Filipino-American History Month

In 1965, Larry Itliong led the successful "Great Delano Grape Strike" to protest the low wages and miserable working conditions. In 1966, he led the Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee and merged with the National Farm Workers Association led by Cesar Chavez to form the United Farm Workers union.

In 1970, Larry Itliong founded and became the president of the Filipino American Political Association (FAPA), the first national political Filipino American organization and a crucial alliance between Filipino professionals with 30 active chapters throughout the United States.

On October 2010, Carson City Council passed a resolution establishing October 25 as Larry Itliong Day in Carson. On June 30, 2015, Assembly Bill 7 (AB 7) was signed into law by Gov. Brown establishing October 25 as Larry Itliong Day in all of California.

"The City of Carson is the first city to recognize the contributions of labor union leader Larry Itliong. We are proud to have this annual event and proud to have been instrumental in the movement to get AB 7 passed in Sacramento to have October 25 recognized as Larry Itliong Day throughout California," said City of Carson Mayor Albert Robles. "On behalf of a grateful City, we give special thanks to Mayor Pro Tem Elito M. Santarina for his leadership in getting Carson to be the first City in the Country to recognize Larry Itliong Day," added Robles.

Filipino American History Month Celebration is an annual event during the month of October in the City of Carson. The events are done in collaboration with Mutch Cariño of Maxx Promos, Confederation of Filipino American Associations, Philippine Independence Day Foundation, Filipino Community of Carson, Filipino American Chamber of Commerce-South Bay Los Angeles Area, and Kayumanggi Lions Club. The events were also presented in partnership with ABS-CBN, TFC, Lifestyle Network, ANC, Star Kargo, and My Remit. ■
